

DARING MAIL ROBBERY IN HEART CHICAGO LOOP

REPEAL DRIVE
TRANSFERRED
TO NEW FRONTDemocrats Will Try To Redeem Promise In U. S. Senate

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Senate today referred back to its Judiciary committee the Glass resolution proposing repeal of the 18th Amendment and substituting a ban against the saloon.

This had been suggested as the probable vehicle for early prohibition debate promised in the Senate, where both the Republican and Democratic leaders agreed today that the issue will certainly be threshed out this session.

In the House, meanwhile, Chairman Collier opened the way for hearings tomorrow on a beer bill by sponsoring a measure allowing modification of the Volstead Act.

Referring of the Glass resolution to committee was the first legislative action of the Senate this session, and came at conclusion of the reading of President Hoover's annual message.

The Senate gave unanimous consent to the move at the request of Senator Glass (D. Va.) after he said he had received "reasonable assurance" the Judiciary committee would give "prompt attention" to the legislation and report on it.

The resolution proposes to repeal the amendment and substitute a provision in the Constitution making it illegal to sell liquor in saloons but permitting its sale in hotels and restaurants.

It also would provide for protection of dry states from the invasion of liquor from wet commonwealths.

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Congressional anti-prohibitionists, stung by defeat in the House, today pinned their hopes for repeal at this session on the Senate where early consideration was assured.

Dry, jubilant over victory, narrow though it was, rallied for another stand, while others inclined to a less drastic repeal proposal as than that voted on yesterday sought to play a hand in shaping such legislation.

As soon as the House vote of 272 to 144—six less than the required two-thirds—was made known in the Senate, Democrats there grasped the lead of Speaker Garner in attempting to carry out their party's pledge for outright enforcement of prohibition with ratification by state conventions.

Tackle Second Promise

With Senate consideration of this problem due to begin Monday in the Judiciary committee, House leaders turned to another Democratic promise—immediate legalization of beer. Garner was hopeful of action by Christmas, the same time as a vote on repeal in the Senate was looked for.

The House action was taken by many legislators as the forerunner of a special session next spring, after the inauguration of President-elect Roosevelt, but Democratic leaders on both sides nevertheless drove ahead with renewed vigor to make it unnecessary by carrying out the campaign pledges at the short session.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, speedily announced that the House vote would not alter plans for prompt consideration of repeal legislation at his end of the Capitol.

Chairman Norris of the Judiciary committee followed this up with a statement that his group would expedite the legislation. He said procedure probably would be considered at the first meeting of the committee next Monday.

Consider Beer Bills

Even before the House Ways and Means committee will begin consideration of proposals to enact measures legalizing and taxing beer, with hearings starting tomorrow. Bills introduced by Representative O'Connor (D. N. Y.) to legalize beer and by Representative Lea (D. Cal.) to make the manufacture of light wines lawful, will be taken up.

Further initiative toward repeal of the eighteenth amendment was left to the Senate by Garner. He said he would allow a vote in the House only on the Democratic resolution for outright repeal, unless legislation was sent over from the Senate.

There the immediate problem was largely a question of what form the repeal resolution should take. Three propositions were under consideration. Outright repeal, repeal with protection for dry states, repeal with protection for dry states and also a ban against the saloon.

Draft Beer Bill

Legislation to legalize and tax the sale of 2.75 per cent beer and wines was drafted today by Chairman Collier of the House Ways and Means committee, as the basis of hearings beginning tomorrow.

Collier explained that while the bill places alcoholic content of beer at 2.75 by weight, this percentage was chosen simply as a basis on which to work.

"It will be for the committee to determine the content desirable," he said.

The same is true of the tax rate, he went on, noting that his bill would levy $5 a barrel on beer and 20 cents a gallon on natural grape wines made "without the addition

Hoover Urges Sales Tax, Cut In Salaries

High Lights Of Hoover Message
To U. S. Congress

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Here are the major proposals which President Hoover laid before Congress today for restoring economic equilibrium:

A special manufacturers' sales tax to cover practically all manufactures at a uniform rate, except necessary food and possibly some grades of clothing.

Widespread reforms of the banking system as one of the first requisites for further recovery.

Sweeping reorganization of the government, with re-grouping and consolidating of more than 50 federal agencies.

A flat 11 percent pay cut for federal employees, with a $1,000 exemption, in addition to the present 8 1-3 reduction under the fur-lough system.

Reductions in appropriations under those for the present fiscal year of $830,000,000, offset in part by increases of $250,000,000 in uncontrollable items.

Curtailment of expenditures for public works from $717,262,000 to $442,769,000.

Elimination of certain payments to veterans arising from "ill-considered" legislation.

Here are some high lights from the message:

"Continued constructive policies promoting the economic recovery of the country must be the paramount duty of the government."

"In the face of widespread hardship our people have demonstrated daily a magnificent sense of humanity, of individual and community responsibility for the welfare of the less fortunate."

"Institutions and men may have resources and credit, but unless they have confidence progress is halting and insecure."

"The Congress must be warned that a host of interested persons inside and outside the government whose particular function will be at once protest against these (federal reorganization) proposals."

"If we are to secure rapid and assured recovery, and protection for the future we must cooperate with foreign nations in many measures."

"The welfare of our people is dependent upon successful issue of the great causes of world peace, world disarmament and organized world recovery."

Dixonites With Their Artistry

Fine old music, once to be heard only in the palaces of kings and emperors, as well as more modern compositions by outstanding composers, was presented by the Whitney trio in their performance at the Methodist church last evening, under the auspices of the Dixon Civic Music Association, in the first concert of the course. The concert was attended by a large and an appreciative audience the applause being hearty and spontaneous after each selection.

The Whitney Trio is one of the most famous of contemporary chamber music ensembles, each one an artist of distinction. Norman Whitney, the young violinist has a brilliant future before her. She plays with a strength, poise and understanding remarkable in such a young woman. Grace Whitney, the cellist, also plays with a strength and understanding rare in a woman; and Robert Whitney, the brother, is a pianist of rare ability and musicianship. Their ensemble playing is above reproach, their technique excellent and their shadings in each selection gave ample evidence of

MESSAGE SENT TO CONGRESS ON
STATE OF UNIONSupplementary Message
On War Debts Later Promised

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Simultaneously with a reiteration in his annual message to Congress that European war debt payments due December 15 should be met, President Hoover today made known through one of his secretaries that he would send a special message to Congress upon the debt problem.

Theodore Joslin of the White House secretariat called newspapermen to his office, adjoining that of the President, to tell them orally.

"Negotiations are still being conducted concerning the war debt problem. There is no doubt that the President will send to Congress a supplementary communication when these negotiations are completed."

He declined to amplify this state-

Italy Decides To Pay December Debt—

Rome, Dec. 6—(AP)—Premier Mussolini disregarded the postponement actions of other debtors or nations today, when he decided Italy would pay the $1,245,000 due the United States December 15.

The Supreme Council of Fascism recommended the action—and it is tantamount to definite decision—after the Premier himself had addressed the body.

Mussolini joined the other debtors, however, in insisting on debt revisions, adhering to the often-voiced Fascist policy that the war debt should be wiped clean.

He also made it plain she regarded debts and reparations as interdependent.

ment or give indication when the message might be expected.

The President canvassed pressing war debt questions today with Secretaries Stimson and Mills, but both reported no immediate action was decided upon.

Both the State Department and Treasury chiefs said no immediate statements of position were in prospect.

Mills said it could not be ascertained at this time when the President might send his projected special message to Congress on the debt problem.

Asked if any action by the administration on debt payments could be expected before December 15, when $125,000,000 is due from foreign debtors, Mills replied "I don't know."

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—A blanket manufacturers' sales tax covering virtually everything but food and an additional 11 per cent pay cut for Federal employees was laid before a waiting Congress today by President Hoover.

In his final message, which did not touch upon the agitated prohibition question, the Chief Executive asserted three separate efforts to be "necessary foundations to any other action"—balancing the budget, complete reorganization of the nation's banking system, and wholehearted cooperation with other nations in the economic field.

As for the present state of the union, he said that "the acute phases of the crisis have obviously passed," and that the freedom from industrial conflict was greater than hitherto known.

Tranquil Election

"While we have recently engaged in the aggressive contest of a national election," he added, "its very tranquility and the acceptance of its results furnish abundant proof of the strength of our institutions."

"In the face of widespread hardship our people have demonstrated daily a magnificent sense of humanity, of individual and community responsibility for the welfare of the less fortunate. They have grown in their conceptions and organization for cooperative action for the common welfare."

"In the provision against distress during this winter, the great private agencies of the country have been mobilized again; the generosity of our people has again come into evidence to a degree in which all America may take great pride. Likewise the local authorities and the states are engaged everywhere in supplemental measures of relief the provisions made for loans from the reconstruction finance corporation, to states that have exhausted their own resources, guarantee that there should be no hunger or suffering from cold in the country. The large majority of states are showing a sturdy cooperation in the spirit of the Federal aid."

NEVER BEFORE HAVE DIXON'S
GOODFELLOWS BEEN SO NEEDED

If ever you want to bring Christmas cheer to some little youngster's heart, now is the time.

If you ever want to be a Goodfellow, now is your best chance.

If there ever was any need for charity and human kindness, now is the time of greatest need.

Response to the Goodfellow appeal in Dixon this year has not met with good results so far. If you intend to support the Goodfellow movement at all this year, do it now. Christmas time is very close and the Goodfellow Club must know how much money it will have at its command so that it can make its plans accordingly.

Every cent you give goes into Christmas cheer for some youngster.

At Late Home By His Pastor

The funeral of Frank E. Ackert whose death Monday morning was announced in last Evening's Telegraph, will be held at his late residence, 212 E. Boyd street, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Dr. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating, and with burial at Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Ackert was born December 12, 1866 near Harmon in Whiteside county. In his early childhood his parents moved to Woosung where he remained for a number of years. He entered Civil Service in 1891 and became a railway mail clerk and continued in that work until his retirement due to ill health in May 1927.

On December 8, 1892, Mr. Ackert was united in marriage to Miss Marietta Wolf. Three children were born to them, namely, Harris, Gail and Frances. Mrs. Ackert died March 24, 1911. Four years later Mr. Ackert was married to Miss Bess Keyes, September 1, 1915. To children were born to them, Amy Lucia and Ann.

He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Dixon and was a faithful member during the major part of his life. He was made a trustee of the church in 1926. For a number of years he sang in the choir and was always passionately fond of music. He was a member of the Neighbourhood Class.

His religious temperament beautifully expressed itself in his whole life and was a definite factor in the religious standards of the home.

He had been a great sufferer for a number of years but had been amazingly patient through it all. Trusting in his Savior he bore his pain and kept as much of it from his family as possible.

CHRISTMASOPTIONAL TAX
FOR COUNTIES
IS MADE LEGALEmmerson Signed the Last Of Emergency
Relief Bills

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—The county optional sales tax took its place upon the statute books today, following its approval by Gov. L. L. Emmerson, as one of three special measures designed to bring about unemployment relief.

Signing of the measure late yesterday by Gov. Emmerson brought complete victory to the efforts of the Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago and Governor-elect Henry Horner who sponsored it and two other relief bills in the special session of the legislature.

The sales tax, as its name implies, is to be optional. It gives county boards the right, with two-thirds majority, to impose a one-cent sales tax. Gasoline and farm products when sold by the producer are the only exceptions to the list of products which may be taxed.

The other two measures were the Cook county $17,000,000 non-refundable bond issue and the Meents bill. The latter provides for the issuance of bonds, to be retired by counties from their share of the gasoline tax.

Officer Tyne Has Broken Up Romance

A romance went on the rocks this morning when State Highway Officer Frank Tyne of this city stopped Theodore Ahlstrom, 22 of Omaha, Neb., east of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway to question him about the Chevrolet coach he was driving. The officer's suspicions were aroused when he observed the spare tire on the rear was missing and the driver's actions were unnatural.

Ahlstrom told the officer that the car belonged to friends of his at Omaha, Neb., who had loaned it to him to drive to Chicago, where he was to meet his fiancée and be married. The story was unusual and further questioning by Officer Tyne developed the fact that Ahlstrom stole the car late Friday afternoon from the court house square in Omaha, for the purpose of driving it to Chicago. In his second story he still maintained that he was hastening to Chicago for the purpose of being married, but he was returned to the county jail and the Omaha authorities notified.

MARCHERS SEE
CURTIS, GARNER
OUTLINE DEMANDAre Permitted To Parade
Under Heavy Guard
Of Police Today

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Vice President Curtis today presented to the Senate a petition from the demonstrators here demanding unemployment relief.

Under heavy police escort, delegations from 3,000 demonstrators who marched to the Capitol in orderly ranks, today presented Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner with petitions for cash relief to the jobless and for unemployment insurance.

For two days these demonstrators whose leaders are closely identified with Communist organizations, have been corralled in a long roadway on Washington's outskirts.

The leaders protested and the marchers fumed at the encircling ring of heavily-armed police. Again and again they demanded entrance to the city and permits to parade to the Capitol itself.

Then last night Ernest Brown, Sup't. of Police, sanctioned a parade beginning at 9:30 A. M. today from their concentration camp on New York Avenue to the foot of Capitol Hill and through other downtown streets and thence back to the pavement bivouac.

March Was Orderly
Flanked by bluecoats, the march was very orderly, although at times it was noisy.

Vice President Curtis was accompanied by a guard of three as he went to the Capitol from his office.

"In presenting our petition," William Reynolds said, "we represent the needs of 15,000,000 unemployed workers and their dependents, and farmers similarly facing starvation and ruin."

"These requests represent the minimum requirements for life for millions of people," Reynolds began to say. "We haven't much confidence that you—"

"Stop that, no reflection on me," Mr. Curtis demanded.

"That your body will put these demands in effect," Reynolds finished.

They Met Garner
At the house end of the Capitol, Garner walked out of his office and said:

"Good morning, gentlemen," and then spying one woman in the group added "Good morning, young lady."

Herbert Benjamin spoke for the delegation. He said:

"We request an opportunity for representatives of the unemployed to present their demands before Congress. We represent the 3,000 who came here. The previous Congress and those who make it up do not justify any confidence that this program will be acted upon. But we feel that in its presentation at least we have represented their views."

"We would like some statement from you that we could carry back that there would be some relief from their misery—some cash relief this winter and unemployment insurance."

After Benjamin made his plea Speaker Garner said:

"I'll take it under consideration. That is all I ever do when people present a plea, whether they be hunger marchers, Senators or even farmers."

Benjamin said:

"The eyes of the entire people are now focused on you and Congress to see what you are going to do to relieve them. What is your attitude on the question?"

Garner replied:

"I think if you take the Congressional Record of last spring you will find my attitude." He referred to his relief bill calling for an outlay of $2,300,000,000 for public buildings and other federal activities.

"Everybody wants work," Benjamin said.

"I am willing for everybody to have a job," Garner said, "and I will make every effort I can to get them work. I will contribute that much. Now I must bid you goodbye."

KELLER MAKES
FAREWELL TALK
TO SUPERVISORSRetiring Prosecutor
Recalls Pleasant
Associations

Retiring State's Attorney Keller appeared before the Board of Supervisors at the close their session yesterday afternoon at the request of Chairman G. P. Finch and gave a farewell address.

He was enthusiastically received and given a rousing ovation as he retired after a few remarks. He recalled the associations of his office with the individual members of the county board, the committees and the board as a body during the past 12 years which represent the three terms he has served the county as State's Attorney. He called attention to many important questions during that time, which were carefully considered before reaching a final decision, thus safeguarding the county's interests and avoiding lawsuits which would necessarily involve the expenditure of public funds.

The road and bridge committee presented a resolution at the afternoon session which was unanimously adopted appropriating the sum of $771.23 from the motor fuel tax fund for the payment of the county's share of spur construction work during the summer months.

A petition signed by E. B. Raymond, Frank Hughes and Fred Hammerstrom requested that the county board take action to vacate certain parts of Southlawn addition, which is outside the city limits and which are not used as public highways. The petition was referred to the road and bridge committee for a recommendation.

New Prosecutor

State's Attorney Edward Jones' office on the third floor of the court house was a bevy of blossom this morning, the new incumbent being the recipient of several beautiful bouquets from his groups of admiring friends. The prosecutor was almost too busy to appreciate the floral remembrances, however, having five prisoners in the county court this morning, against whom he had filed informations before Judge Leach while painters and decorators were active in the consultation office redecorating the walls and ceilings.

Informations charging trespass against Richard Craig and Clifford Croft of this city for the taking of an automobile last Friday evening were filed and they were present in court waiting for their attorney, Charles Carver, Burdette Harvel and Lonnie Harvel, charged in informations with petit larceny, were taken into court and their bonds fixed at $1,000 each, which they were unable to furnish and they were remanded back to the county jail. The trio are charged with the theft of a quantity of leaf tobacco from a farmer residing near Paw Paw last week.

CARRIER, GUARD
BOUND FOR BANK,
THUGS' VICTIMSThe Loot May Reach One Million: Hold-Up
Spectacular

Chicago, Dec. 6—(AP)—In a daring mail robbery in the heart of the loop today five masked bandits surprised a carrier, and his guard and escaped with a pouch of registered mail destined for the First National bank.

Unofficial estimates placed the loot at $1,000,000 in stocks, bonds, and checks not easily negotiable. Bankers said none of the mail came from the east, where large money shipments originate.

Postal inspectors expressed belief the robbery was engineered by men familiar with the movement of bank mail deliveries.

E. E. Brown, Vice President of the First Union Trust & Savings Bank, affiliate of the First National, expressed doubt that the robbers would realize much from their desperate raid. Much of the daily shipment consists usually of non-negotiable securities, sometimes of a small amount of mutilated currency turned in for redemption, sometimes shipments of coupons from customers for collections. At this time of the month, however, coupon collections would be small. Brown said.

No Eastern Shipments
At the First National Bank it was stated that 25 per cent of today's mail was from Chicago senders, and some of it from Indiana, Illinois and Michigan—none from the eastern banks.

Alexander Jamie, director of the Secret Six, offered his services to the government and said he heard the loot might reach one or two million dollars. He did not reveal his source.

Postal inspectors said the loss would not be known for a week or more, pending investigation at the sources of the mail.

It was one of the most spectacular daylight robberies in years. Shortly after 7 A. M. the carrier, Fred Voelch, and Frank Stasny as escort, stepped from the subway entrance of the federal building and crossed Adams street on his way to make deliveries of registered mail at the loop banks.

Accompanied Quickly
A small sedan containing five men drew alongside. While one remained at the wheel, the four gunmen forced the pair into the lobby of the Edison building across the street, seized the mail sacks and the guard's revolver, jumped into their car and sped away.

Only the senders knew their contents, and it will be impossible to approximate the loot for several days. Bank and post office officials said the usual morning registered mail carried a half million dollars or more in stocks and bonds, mortgages, checks and other securities. The carrier himself said he understood most of the mail usually consists of non-negotiable securities, and he doubted if the loss would prove to be large.

The carrier said one or two of the robbers might be identified, but pursuit was impossible.

Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder, lacking specific information as to the contents of the mail, expressed belief that the loss would be "much smaller" than the estimate of $1,000,000.

Atkinson Home In
Nelson Is Damaged

The beautiful residence on the Joy Atkinson farm seven miles southwest of Dixon in Nelson township was badly damaged by fire yesterday. Sparks from a defective chimney started a fire under the patent shingle roof and the community fire truck was summoned from the local fire department. It was necessary to remove practically the entire roof before the flames could be extinguished.

Neighbors hurried to the scene and removed all of the furnishings even to bath tubs, where were disconnected, when the flames threatened to destroy the fine residence and other buildings. Bucket brigades were formed and a truck load of water was hauled in milk cans from the city hall which was poured into the supply tanks on the community fire truck before the fire was extinguished. Barns and other outbuildings were threatened several times but the numerous small blazes were quickly extinguished by the volunteer helpers. The loss was reported to be covered by insurance.

SETTLEMENT OF SMITH REYNOLDS ESTATE IS BEGUN

Will Not Be Completed Until After Baby Comes In Jan.

Winston Salem, N. C., Dec. 6—(AP)—Negotiations looking toward a final settlement in February of the estate of the late Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, have been begun by attorneys for the Reynolds family and Libby Holman Reynolds, the youthful millionaire's widow. Benet Polikoff, Winston Salem attorney retained by Alfred Holman, Cincinnati, Ohio lawyer, to represent his daughter when Mrs. Reynolds was indicted for murder in connection with young Reynolds' death, announced today settlement of the estate had been started. Polikoff refused to disclose any figures or to say along what lines the settlement would be made. Final settlement of the estate, Polikoff said, is being delayed until February so that attorneys may be able to take action "after the baby comes." Mrs. Reynolds disclosed shortly after her husband was found mortally wounded July 6 that she was to become a mother, probably in January.

Miners' Auxiliary Meeting Prevented

West Frankfort, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—A miners' mass meeting sponsored by the ladies auxiliary of the Progressive Miners Union, scheduled to be held in a downtown hall here last night, failed to materialize when deputy sheriffs cleared the streets, ordered a delegation of women from Central Illinois into trucks and cars and told them "to move on." Plans for the meeting went awry when the progressive women arrived to find the door to the hall where they had expected to hold the meeting had been locked. A crowd soon gathered in front of the place and Sheriff Browning Robinson and a large force of deputies dispersed the crowd to avoid trouble.

BILL IS VETOED

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—The bill increasing the daily license fee of race tracks by $1,000, introduced as an unemployment relief measure but amended so as to increase the "take" of the track operators, was vetoed by Gov. L. L. Emmerson today. The measure, introduced by Senator Michel of Peoria, would have provided that tracks in counties of 1,000,000 or more population pay $3,500 daily license fee while those in areas of less population pay $2,500. The additional $1,000 in each case was to have been paid into the state unemployment relief funds.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

Chicago, Dec. 6—(AP)—A Coroner's jury investigating the death of Howard P. Castle, 54, attorney and former state legislator, has returned a verdict of "suicide" while temporarily insane due to a nervous breakdown and financial reverses. Castle's body was found hanging in a closet in his home in suburban Barrington yesterday. His widow and five children survive.

General Assembly To Gather Up

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—Adjournment until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning was taken by the House of Representatives at a perfunctory session this morning and this afternoon the Senate will do the same, so that both houses may meet tomorrow to gather up the loose ends of legislation left when the major unemployment relief bills were passed. The Senate will have before it the Branson bill, passed by the House, to permit building and loan associations to borrow money up to twenty-five per cent of total assets.

Miner's Home Was Target For Bomber

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—The home of Peter Haines was intact today because a bomb tossed at it exploded in mid-air. The bombing, the sixth since the outbreak of the Illinois coal "mine" war, took place last night. Haines, a member of one of the warring factions, the United Mine Workers of America, said he fired five shots at an automobile as it dashed away from near his dwelling a moment after the explosion.

MESSAGE SENT TO CONGRESS ON STATE OF UNION

In addition to the manufacturers' sales tax at a "uniform" but unspecified rate, here are some of his far-flung proposals for securing the balanced budget which he termed necessary to "fully restored confidence in the future."

Some Proposals
Widespread reorganization of the Federal government, with executive orders to be submitted "within a few days" for regrouping and consolidating more than 50 Federal departments and agencies.

A flat 11 per cent slash in Federal salaries, with a $1,000 exception, in addition to the present 8 1/2-2 reduction under the furlough system.

Reductions in appropriations under those for the present fiscal year of $830,000,000—this to be offset in part by increases in "uncontrollable items" of $250,000,000.

Drastic whittling down of expenditures for public works from $717,000,000 to $422,000,000.

Elimination of certain unnamed payments to veterans arising from "ill-considered legislation."

Banking Reforms Needed
The President, after asserting that measures already adopted had "undoubtedly saved the country from economic disaster, devoted a full section of his message to criticism of the nation's banking system. He declared "widespread banking reforms are a national necessity and are the first requisites for further recovery."

"As a system," he said, "our banking has failed to meet this great emergency. It has been a source of doubt that our losses and distress have been greatly augmented by its wholly inadequate organization. Its inability as a system to respond to our needs is today a constant drain upon progress toward recovery."

Mr. Hoover explained that he did not refer to individual banks or bankers, but to a system which in "its instability is responsible for periodic dangers to our whole economic system."

Although specific reforms were not named in the message, the President pointed out that the measures have been exhaustively examined and said that he saw "no reason now why solution should not be found at the present session of the Congress."

He warned, however, that "inflation of the currency or governmental conduct of banking" should not have a part in these reforms.

The government, Mr. Hoover said, should exercise care not to become a participant in economic and social life except in emergencies because by so doing it becomes "a competitor with the people."

Turning to the field of international relations, the President declared that if the United States is to secure recovery and protection for the future "we must cooperate with foreign nations in many measures." He limited his direct discussion of war debts to the following paragraph:

Regarding Foreign Debts
"The European governments, obligated to us in war debts, have requested that there should be suspension of payments due the United States on December 15 next, to be accompanied by exchange of views upon this debt question. Our government has informed them that we do not approve of suspension of the December 15 payments. I have stated that I would recommend to the Congress methods to overcome temporary exchange difficulties in connection with this payment from nations where it may be necessary."

Upon the finding of solutions to international questions, the President said, depends "the preservation of civilization." He added that solutions could not be found except "by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised and by cooperation amongst the nations."

Linked Aspirations
The Chief Executive linked very closely the goals of world peace, world disarmament and world recovery, and spoke of currency depreciation and the decrease in prices as being in connection with the projected world economic conference.

The President spoke but briefly of general legislation in his message. He said he would send special messages to Congress "where necessary."

Turning to taxation, he said that some of the older revenues and those in the billion dollar tax bill "generally referred to as nuisance taxes," had failed to produce the income hoped for. Many of the manufacturers' excise taxes upon selected industries, he said, have proved "unjust and discriminatory."

Speaking of the general state of the union, Mr. Hoover included tabulated figures to show that "the public health is today at its highest known level," with general mortality at 10.6 per 1,000 and infant mortality at 55.

He inserted a table also to "show the general economic movement during the past 11 months." The figures in all cases were below the level of last January, but in all cases except factory employment, department store sales and export and import values showed improvement over May.

"The activities of our government are so great, when combined with the emergency activities which have arisen out of the world crisis, that even the briefest review of them would render the annual message unduly long. I shall therefore avail myself of the fact that every detail of the government is covered in the reports to the Congress by each of the departments and agencies of the government."

Conclusion
"It seems to me appropriate upon this occasion to make certain general observations upon the principles which must dominate the solution of problems now pressing upon the nation. Legislation in response to national needs will be effective only if every such act conforms to a complete philosophy of the people's purposes and destiny. Our is a distinctive government with a unique history and background, consciously dedicated to specific deals of liberty and to a faith in the inviolable sanctity of the individual human spirit. Furthermore, the continued existence and adequate functioning of our government in preservation of ordered liberty and stimulation of progress depends upon the maintenance of state, local, institutional, and individual sense of responsibility. We have built a system of individualism peculiarly our own which must not be forgotten in any governmental acts, for from it have grown greater accomplishments than those of any other nation."

The social and economic sides, the background of our American system and the motivation of progress is essentially that we should allow free play of social and economic forces as far as will not limit equality of opportunity and as will at the same time stimulate the initiative and enterprise of our people. In the maintenance of this balance the Federal government can permit of no privilege to any person or group. It should act as a regulatory agent and not as a participant in economic and social life. The moment the government participates, it becomes a competitor with the people. As a competitor it becomes at once a tyrant in whatever direction it may touch. We have around us numerous such experiences, no one of which can be found to have justified itself except in cases where the people as a whole have met forces beyond their control, such as those of the great war and his great depression, where the full powers of the Federal government must be exerted to protect the people. But even these must be limited to a emergency sense and must be promptly ended when these dangers are overcome.

"With the free development of science and the consequent multitude of inventions, some of which are absolutely revolutionary in our national life, the government must not only stimulate the social and economic responsibility of individuals and private institutions but operative action amongst the people which will soften the effect of these revolutions and thus secure social transformations in an orderly manner. The highest form of self-government is the voluntary cooperation within our people for such purposes."

"But I would emphasize again that social and economic solutions, as such, will not avail to satisfy the aspirations of the people unless they conform with the traditions of our race, deeply grooved in their sentiments through a century and a half of struggle for ideals of life that are rooted in religion and fed from purely spiritual springs."

LOVE, DIVINE, ALL LOVE EXCELLING

LOVE DIVINE, all love excell-ing. Joy of heaven, to earth come down! Fix in us thy humble dwell-ing. All Thy faithful mercies de-crown.

Beads, Thou art all compassion, Pure, unbounded love Thou art; Visit us with Thy salvation, Enter every trembling heart, Breathe, O, breathe Thy loving Spirit.

Into every troubled breast! Let us all in Thee inherit, Let us find the promised rest; Take away our love of sinning; Alpha and Omega be, End of faith, as its beginning, Seat our hearts at Thy mercy.

—Charles Wesley.

Color Study Helps Frocks, Says Patou

Two colors are far more than twice as effective as one, when Jean Patou uses them. (Left to right) In this beguiling gown, Patou uses two tones of gray, with the dark color skillfully continuing down the skirt to supply the illusion of length. It also caps one arm, slenderizing the shoulders. For a formal evening gown, Patou touches up a mediaeval brown satin gown with his tea rose tone. He uses the tea rose to deftly mark his new long waist line which caused such a sensation this fall. In this evening gown of violet crepe de chine, Patou uses fuchsia crepe de chine to enhance the cut and line. The fuchsia fashions the V neckline, continuing down the back to slant down across the front hipline, thus slenderizing it. It also fashions the side flaring lengths of the skirt.

Mrs. Auman Entertains Dixon Unit Of Home Bureau

Mrs. Carl Auman was a charm-ing hostess to members and guests of the Dixon Unit of Home Bureau at an all day meeting Wednesday November 30. At ten o'clock Mrs. Wilberton of Bloomington gave a demonstration in soap making and also discussed soaps in general method of testing soaps for purity and neutrality and stressed the making of an all purpose soap that can be used on any kind of fabric. She also gave recipes for making toilet soaps, floating castile and lava explaining the use of colors and perfumes.

This was very helpful for those who make his household necessity. A delicious scrambled dinner, taste-fully served by the hostess was enjoyed. After the social hour the president, Mrs. George Rosbrook called the meeting to order and the secretary's report was given. Mrs. Roy McCleary sang two very pleasing solos with Mrs. Harold McCleary at the piano. Mrs. Syverud, Home Adviser gave the lesson "Inexpensive Accessories for the Home" and displayed many beautiful and useful articles many of which would make pretty in-expensive Christmas presents. At a late hour all departed thanking Mrs. Auman for the delightful day.

FELT GLASS MATS

Something new in table gadgets always pleases the woman who entertains a lot.

Here is a package of one dozen glass mats, particularly nice be-cause they don't lift up when you start to raise your glass to drink.

They are made from felt just cut 12 circles of bright colored felt. It is best to use a compass to outline the circles so that they are true. If you want to be very fancy, you can cut them hec-tagonal. Instead of round, but round is easier. They can be all the colors of the rainbow or all one color.

UNUSUAL TRIO GAVE RECITAL LAST EVENING

their artistic skill, restrained and delicate when necessary, and full, buoyant and powerful when the occasion demanded. These un-spoiled and talented young people were most generous in their en-cores, the applause being enthusi-astic.

The program for the concert was as follows:

Program
Trio in C minor, Opus 38 Gretchaninoff
Allegro appassionato Lento assai
Allegro vivace Grainger
Country Dance Straus
Elegy and Scherzo Arensky
Three Spanish Dances Breton
Bolero Polo
Seguidilla Fernandez-Arbo
All Through the Night Red-man
Rondo Haydn

From the playing of the first selection, the difficult Trio in C minor, Opus 38, by Gretchaninoff, the young artists quite won their audience and kept their rapt at-tention to the last wistful note of the program. They responded to the encore of the first number by playing a comparatively simple Italian air, Nina. The Colonial Song and Country Dance were ex-quisitely handled as well as the dreamy and delightful Elegy and Scherzo. A jig, a sprightly bit by Handel, was the encore to this group. The three Spanish gypsy dances were full of the wild, un-tamed spirit of the nomads of the forest and plain. All Through the Night, familiar to most all music lovers, was full of charm, and the Rondo by Haydn, was replete with spirit and grace. En-cores to these last numbers includ-ed the ever popular Londonderry Air, a quaint German dance and Mendelssohn's lovely Wings of Song. The entire program was a genuine artistic and musical treat, and all who heard the Whitney Trio in last evening's Civic Music concert, will anticipate with great pleasure an opportunity of hearing them again.

WHAT MARVELS WE MORTALS BE!

It is a fascinating picture of the human body which Dr. George W. Crile of the Cleveland Clinic has drawn up.

An almost infinite number of tiny suns, intensely hot and glowing like distant star-points, forming minute solar systems "created in its own image by the sun's radiance"—this is the set-up in our bodies as Dr. Crile sees it.

"We may say that the protoplasm is a 'milky way,'" he remarks; and again he refers to the vital centers in the system as "sun in infinite miniature."

All of this, whatever else it may mean to research workers, seems to prove nothing so much as that when you extend science and poetry far enough they meet, like parallel lines pulled out to infinity.

This work that Dr. Crile has been doing is a matter of laboratories, charts and mathematical calculations—seemingly as dry and prosaic a business as could be imagined.

But his conclusion, however it may rank as science, is the very stuff of which poetry is made. The high sense of wonder, of great marvels, of profound and breath-taking mystery which the artist finds when he looks into the riddle of human existence is expressed here just as an artist might express it.

Beneath the palm of your hand or the skin on your shoulder there lies a glowing, incandescent duplication of the wheeling sun and the golden stars. You cannot see it, you cannot detect it by any combination of microscope and dissecting scalpel—but it is there, an amazingly tiny microcosm, existing alike in saint and criminal, in old man and newborn baby.

That is Dr. Crile's picture. It comes out of a medical laboratory, which is modern skeptical materialism incarnate; but it is a picture that only a great artist could have conceived or expressed.

IS THIS A GOOD OMEN?

One little by-product of the election, almost unnoticed in the excitement of counting votes, is the fact that next March we shall install in the White House another of those rarities—a president who did not begin life as a poor boy but who came up from surroundings of comparative luxury.

The log-cabin-the-White-House tradition doesn't often fail. Mr. Roosevelt breaks it, for the moment. Back of him it held sway for a good many years. Hoover, Coolidge, Harding, Wilson—all were poor, or comparatively so, as boys.

Indeed, the last president before Mr. Roosevelt who came from a well-to-do family was—the other Roosevelt, and none other!

Is that, possibly, a good omen?

JOBS PREFERRED; BUT—

Members of the Ohio Manufacturers Association casting sombre eyes at the proposal for compulsory unemployment insurance recently made in their state, have announced that the difference between such a scheme and an outright dole is "only the difference between tweedle dee and tweedle dum;" and their spokesman has pointed out:

"The average American citizen who at this moment may be in need desires a job, not charity. The exception, who prefers charity to work, deserves little consideration."

All of which, of course, is as clear as daylight and as true as twice-two-is-four. But what of it? This average American may prefer a job to a handout, but he has a peculiar distaste for starvation. If he demands now that the next depression find industry with some well-defined plan for caring for its workers, is it greatly to be wondered at?

No decent American thinks of the Englishman as a person who doesn't want to pay what he owes and no decent Englishman thinks of an American as a person who wants to get something from somebody to which he has no right.—John Drinkwater, English poet and dramatist.

I do not share the popular philosophy that society is responsible for the criminal. The individual is responsible for his own acts.—Federal Judge Paul Jones, Cleveland, Ohio.

Without regulation of machines, America will turn into a land of insane asylums.—Bernhard Gutmann, German artist.

A great crop failure would do the farmers of the land more good than any other one thing. That would use up the surplus and everybody could start in all over.—C. E. Troyer, LaFontaine, Ind., "1932 corn king."

Of all the sentimental slush that is peddled about mothers and motherhood—it's just too sickening!—Lady Nancy Astor, mother of five and first woman member of British Parliament.

The war changed the world. This is not my world any recovered from the Civil War. Now, I don't know what's coming, but I shan't see it.—Miss Ida M. Tarbell, 75, author.

Gotham's Ex-Mayor Poses—and Reposes

All troubles were behind him as Jimmy Walker enjoyed complete repose on a trans-Atlantic liner while sailing for an extended vacation abroad, during which time he may write his memoirs. Besides him in a deck chair is Betty Compton, actress friend and recipient of a $7500 check which came to light in the Hofstadter investigation of Walker's conduct of New York's mayoralty. While the one-time playboy Mayor sought repose—he was being sued in New York over a hotel bill and also a $20,000 account his wife had with a New York modiste.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Another famous White House institution may be scrapped in the near future if reports coming from Governor F. D. Roosevelt's retreat at Warm Springs, mean anything.

The governor is said to be considering doing away with the position of Physician to the President, when he takes office on next March 4. He'll call in a physician from the outside when one is needed, it has been indicated, rather than keep one on duty all the time at the mansion.

White House physicians in the past have been a rather important part of presidential retinues. The present one, Comm. Joel T. Boone, a navy medic, has been one of the most prominent members of Mr. Hoover's personal staff.

During the campaign, on all official visits away from the capital, on the few of his pleasure trips, and on week-end excursions to the Rapidan, Dr. Boone has been along always.

FRIEND AND PHYSICIAN—

President Wilson's personal physician, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, not only looked after his health, but became his close personal friend as well. And it was a true friendship, that the admiral to this day cherishes.

Locked in his mind are many incidents of those last tragic days of the war President in the White House. They'll never be known to the public if Grayson must tell them. Repeatedly he has refused to talk about his close association with Wilson. He holds that he was there first as a physician and next as a close friend.

COOLIDGE NEVER ILL—

Calvin Coolidge probably would have done the same thing Governor Roosevelt is said to think of doing if he had thought of it. Dr. Boone, who was at the White House during Coolidge's stay, is fond of telling how the President all but told him once that he thought his job was superfluous.

"We're never sick," Coolidge told him, dryly. And so true was his statement that when he came to the end of his administration he was able to write to a friend: "Whatever else may be said about me, I have been a healthy President."

Daily Health Talk

THE ADRENAL GLANDS

The adrenal glands, part of the endocrine system, are two small organs located on top of the kidneys.

They are glands of internal secretion, and the substances which they produce they pour into the blood and lymph streams.

The existence of these glands has been known for centuries. An accurate anatomical description of them was given in 1653 by the famous anatomist Eustachius. The nature of their function, however, was not understood until recent years.

In a medical lexicon published in 1719 various theories were advanced regarding the function of the adrenals.

Thus, they were supposed to "hold up the stomach" and also strengthen the nervous plexus which touches them." They were believed to collect the humors which leak from the larger vessels in the neighborhood, and they were thought to contain black bile.

The first insight into the functions of the adrenal glands was given in 1755 by Dr. Thomas Addison, who as a result of extensive investigations drew the conclusion that the adrenal glands are indispensable for life.

The adrenal glands were the first organs of internal secretion whose derangement was definitely shown to result in disease conditions. It is, however, one thing to say that an organ is indispensable for life and quite another thing to demonstrate clearly this indispensable relationship.

The first substances isolated from the adrenal glands was epinephrin. This took place in 1895. Six years later adrenalin was isolated as the active ingredient of epinephrin and subsequently produced artificially.

This substance exercises a powerful influence on the body's functions. It has a remarkable power to raise blood pressure. It also influences the body's utilization of sugars and is closely related to the emotions.

TOMORROW: Addison's Disease

Sanford Martin, editor of the Winston-Salem (N. C.) Journal, says:

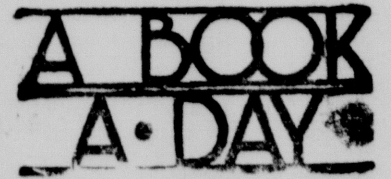

That newspaper advertising is the best weapon with which to fight depression.

Intelligent, consistent, persistent advertising by all manufacturers and merchants would do more to stop hoarding in a month than the President and Congress have done in two years.

A thorough, sustained, general newspaper advertising campaign in this country for six months would entice a billion dollars out of hiding and start the wheels of industry turning again to supply the demand of millions who shied through the advertising columns of their favorite newspapers.

Then there would be jobs for the jobless.

HARDER THE TIMES THE HARDER THE ADVERTISER SHOULD HIT THE LINE.

TO THE SOUND OF TRUMPETS—

BY BRUCE CATTON

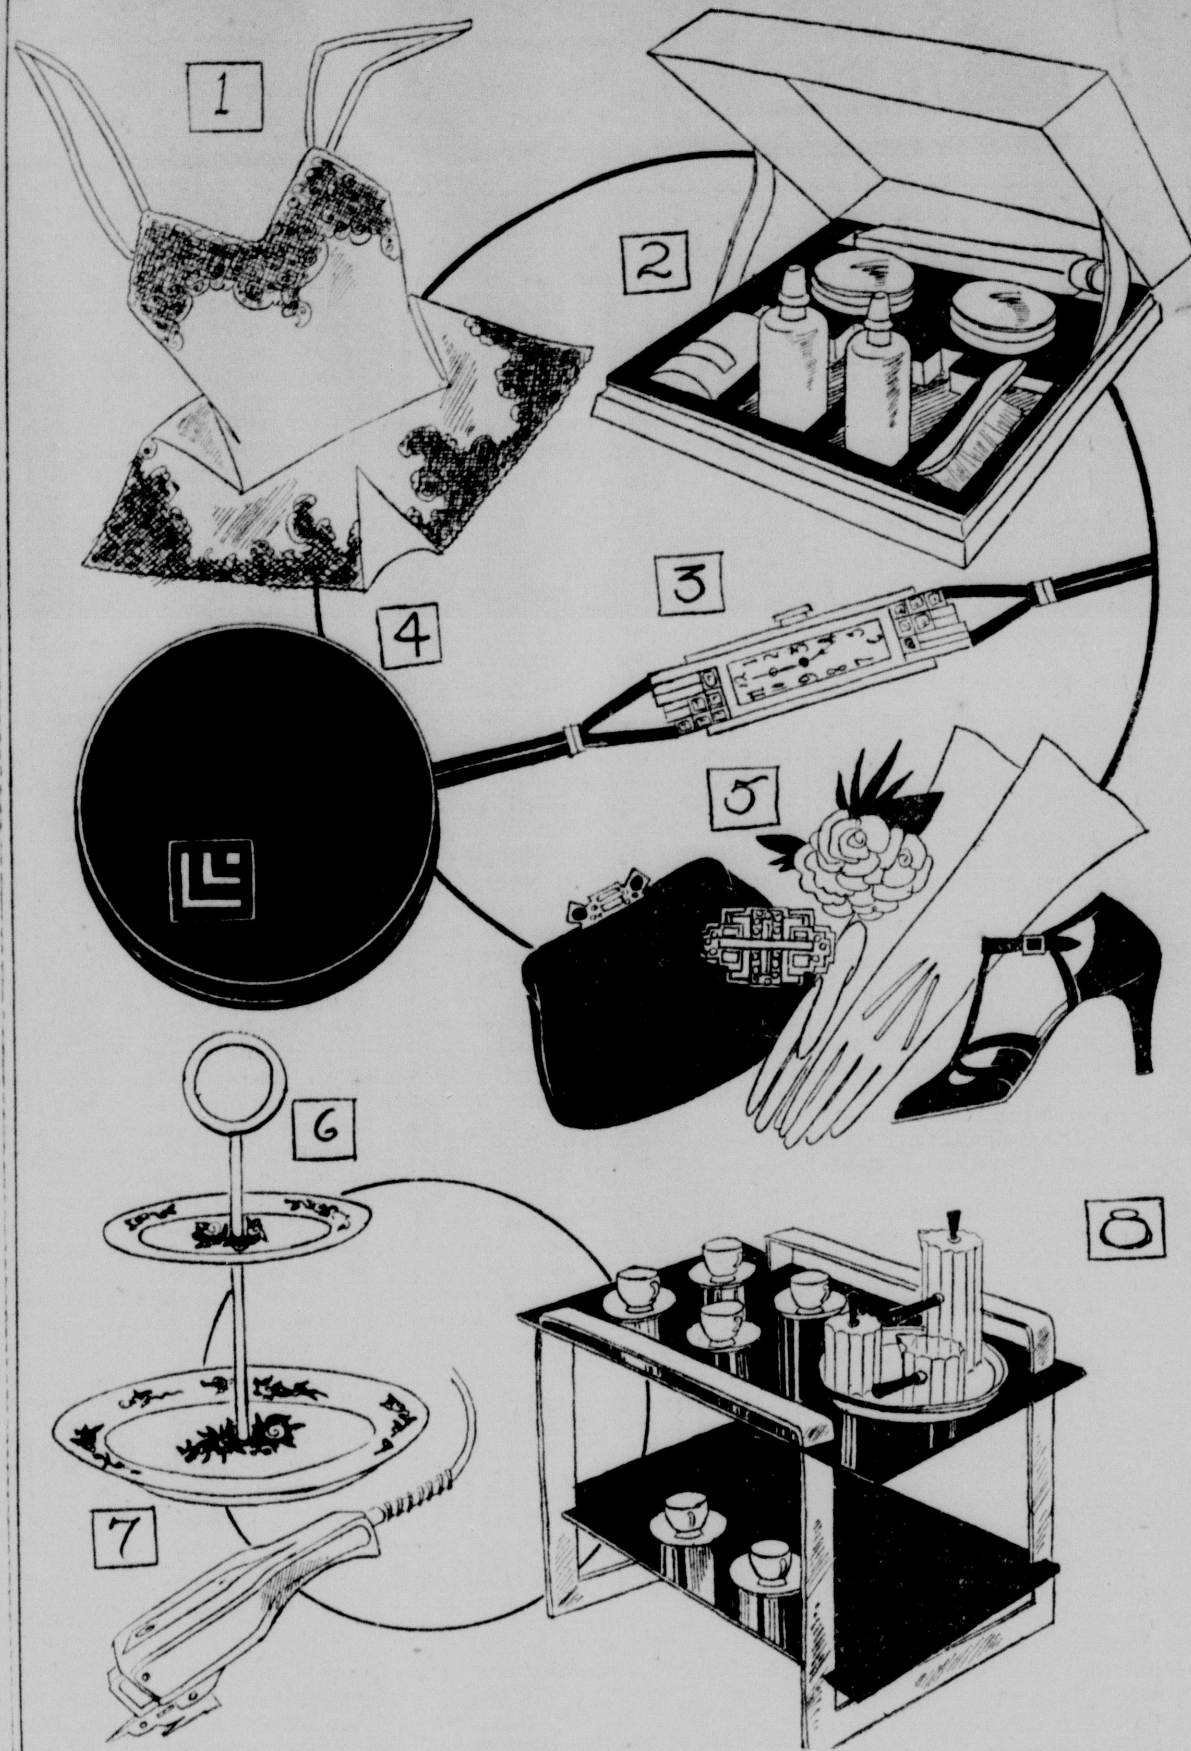

The drama in the prosaic life of the ordinary man is a thing that has fascinated Christopher Morley for many years. It has, at last, found expression in a novel, "Human Being," in which Mr. Morley expresses his belief that the average undistinguished citizen is a brave and virtuous figure, stumbling along as best he can to the faint sound of very distant trumpets.

This book tells about Richard Roe, who is not in any way distinguished. He is a moderately prosperous business man—he makes and sells desk sets, after having begun his career as a book salesman—he has a petulant wife and a snooty daughter, he dabbles somewhat foolishly in a love affair on the side, and finally he dies of heart disease while riding on a Hudson river ferry.

All of this would hardly be worth reading, of course, were it not for Mr. Morley's deep belief that wonders and marvels can be set every man's path. His Richard Roe is dimly conscious of his kinship to something very much finer and greater than his daily life. He has missed the high peaks of life, but he is redeemed by the fact that he knows he has missed them. They do exist, and now and then he sees their glint against the sky.

The story is placid and slow; it is almost a chain of essays rather

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Radio Commission Files Its Report

Washington, Dec. 5—(AP)—Reviewing for Congress its year's activity, the Radio Commission today reported upwards of 40,000 applications disposed of and remarked its work was increasing.

"Only by extreme efficiency," the Commission said in its annual report, was the increasing volume of work being handled by reduced personnel. It invited "special attention to the numerous and complex legal problems" arising from the newness of radio and radio laws.

The Commission said virtually all cases set for hearings in the period were heard, 40,218 applications for licenses were granted, 260 denied and 235 dismissed.

During the year, licensed amateur stations increased 30 per cent to a total of 30,374 from 22,739. Broadcasting station applications dropped 1,265 to 2,519, while police stations increased from 62 to 82 stations.

Aeronautic, maritime, experimental and temporary service permits made up the balance of the commission's applications.

Change Method Of Feeding Russians

Moscow, Dec. 5—(AP)—A fundamental change in the system of feeding and clothing the bulk of the population of Russia was ordered today by Joseph Stalin and V. M. Molotov, President of the Union Council of the Peoples Commissars, and provided for decentralization of the distribution of supplies.

A decree effective January 1 will place the control of distribution of all foods, manufactured goods, and other supplies in the hands of individual factories, industries and enterprises.

The decree is designed to improve the badly disorganized distribution of supplies and at the same time exercises a greater discipline over workers.

The new order, in effect, relieves the government of much of the responsibility of feeding and clothing the workers and places it on the workers themselves.

Papers In Insull Case Reach Athens

Athens, Dec. 5—(AP)—The American Legation announced today that warrants and final extradition papers had arrived from the United States in the case of Samuel Insull, former operator of the mid-west utilities companies now in receivership.

The legation advised the Greek Foreign Office of the arrival of the papers and will submit them after several days necessary for translations have elapsed. The documents include photographs, checks, vouchers and correspondence relating to payments made by Insull.

Clemens' Pilot's License Is Found

Newport News, Va., Dec. 5—(AP)—The original pilot's certificate granted Samuel Clemens when he was just an ambitious young man learning the secrets of the Mississippi—yet the sharp-witted Mark Twain—has been added to a growing list of exhibits for the Mariner's Museum here.

It was obtained through C. W. MacDonald, an employee of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Company who recalled that it was in possession of his mother,

Mrs. W. J. McDonald of St. Louis. The document is dated April 9, 1859 and was granted after two inspectors of the St. Louis district had examined Clemens, "touching his qualifications as a pilot of a steamboat" and found him "a suitable and safe person to be entrusted with the power and duties of pilot of steamboats."

Big Ten To Study Tax On Its Sports

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—The Big Ten has appointed a committee of three to study the new tax schedule on sports within the conference.

The members of the committee are Major John L. Griffith, Conference Athletic Commissioner; Fielding H. Yost, Director of Athletics at Michigan, and Frank McCormick, Minnesota Director of Athletics.

Since the new Federal tax became effective, various colleges and universities within the conference have been at sea, it was explained, some paying the tax, others holding it and some not even collecting it. Perplexed over the interpretation, the Big Ten decided to gain a clear conception of the tax, possibly sending the committee to Washington for a close study.

BABE'S PICTURE IN AD FOR AUTO ENDS HER STATUS

Is Barred From Amateur Athletics: Future Move Up To Her

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Automobile advertising has deprived Mildred (Babe) Didrickson of her amateur status.

The world's greatest woman athlete—as most authorities are agreed—was disqualified yesterday from further amateur competition because her name appeared in an advertisement for the latest model of an automobile manufacturing concern.

The next move Dan Ferris, Secretary-Treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, made plain, is strictly up to Babe.

He pointed out that the advertisement, in which Miss Didrickson was quoted in glowing praise of the new model, was a palpable violation of A. A. U. rules and automatically disbarred the Texas star from amateur competition.

Down at her home in Dallas, Miss Didrickson said it was all a big mistake.

Call It Mistake
"I let this automobile company make a picture of me," she explained, "but I told them not to use it. They did so without my permission. I do not intend to turn professional before next summer—if then."

Col. M. J. McCombs, Athletic Director for the Dallas Insurance Company by which Miss Didrickson is employed, indicated a damage suit might be entered against the automobile concern.

Apparently a court suit is the only possible road leading to Miss Didrickson's reinstatement. As to that Ferris had this to say:

"If she did not sanction the use of her name, she can prove it by bringing suit against the company for impairing her amateur status. If she wins her suit, the A. A. U. immediately would reinstate her. On the face of things, we cannot believe she did not know her name was being used in the advertisement."

COACH JONES DISAPPOINTED IN ANDERSON

So. California Mentor Cannot Find Desired Comment

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Coach Howard Herdine Jones of the University of Southern California, football team likes Notre Dame's grid mentor, and all that, but Hunk Anderson has been a big disappointment.

This was apparent today, four days short of the game here between those two schools, as Troy's head man stirred through a pile of newspaper clippings. He looked up with a heavy sigh and it was apparent the caustic comment Jones sought to help his players for the game had not been found.

"Everywhere, it seems," said the Trojan tactician, "Hunk has talked about what a fine team is Southern California, and what a great coach I am and that's all. 'Well, I want to return the compliment, I'm not joking when I say I never have seen a Notre Dame team which wasn't high class and I don't expect this one. I frankly feel Anderson has done a fine coaching job.'"

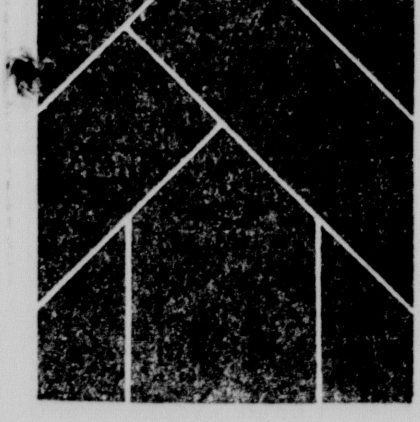

It sounded like a speech before mutual admiration society. But Jones was only warming up to go out and drive his team through another hard practice session for the big struggle with the west-bound Ramblers.

HI-HO

Can You Make This

With These Pieces?

HI-HO PUZZLE NO. 8—Now Peter Rabbit has hopped into the limelight in the HI-HO puzzle game. The hunting season is on, so get your scissors, cut out the seven pieces in the rectangle and see if you can rearrange them to form his silhouette.—Solution next Monday.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
One valuable lesson was learned by the Chicago Cubs in the 1932 World Series (or was it a pogrom?) That was this: base-hits are okay if you have somebody who can hit 'em far enough. Ruth and Gehrig furnished the text.

Now the Cubs have turned a little crowd of ivory down the river to Cincinnati in exchange for Babe Herman. They have acquired in Herman a gent who will hit 'em from town to town. Now, for another old series!

WHAT DO REDS GET?—In exchange for Mr. Herman and his color, which has the very practical value of packing them in, the dear old Reds are in receipt of a bundle of assorted ivory chateaus.

Catcher Rollie Hensley is Exhibit A. In his five years in the majors he has been at times a very able receiver, but has been in trouble several other times in Pittsburgh and Chicago for smacking the training regulations wide open almost daily.

Just how far he will get breaking training rules under Owen Bush, who has been named 1933's victim as manager of the Reds, is extremely known in advance. The answer is nowhere at all.

TWO FORMER BRAVES

Outfielder Lance Richbourg, an ex-Brave is Exhibit B. He has been transferred to baseball at Grand Rapids, in the old Central League 12 years ago, and now he has reached the ripe age of 33. The Braves found they could no longer use him, and he reached the Cubs on waivers last year. He is an eight-year man and can be depended upon to hit better than .300, but slipped rather badly in his last year at Boston.

SIX TEAMS TO PLAY IN DIXON CAGE SCHEDULE

Industrial League Has Been Formed: Play Starts Tomorrow

The Industrial Basketball League has been organized with six teams, four from Dixon and one each from Polo and Ashton, and will begin the three round schedule of games at the high school gymnasium Wednesday evening. Clayton Kesseling of Franklin Grove has been secured to officiate at the opening games. Several new players, former college and high school stars, will appear in the lineups. The league voted to adopt and recognize the ten second rule, which is a change notable in this season's revised rule book. General Manager Joe Miller has requested the managers of the various teams to file with him the personnel of their teams as early as possible and before the opening games.

The four Dixon teams competing in the league are announced by their managers today as follows: Dixon Battery Shop—J. Miller, manager; R. Kehr, G. Crum, C. Roundy, L. Miller, E. Bollman, B. Bollman, P. Guthrie.

Reynolds Wire Co.—George Lebre, manager; G. Lebre, B. Whitcomb, R. Johnson, W. Pitney, J. Joyce, P. McDonald, J. Kennedy. Dixon Ghouls—H. Weinman, manager; D. Hilliker, G. O'Malley, B. Carlson, G. Cortright, K. Means. Beier Loafers—Robert Gehant, manager; T. Hasselberg, G. Fane, L. Vorhis, J. Underwood, L. Bremner, B. O'Malley, L. Nicholas.

The schedule of games for the first round of play is as follows: Dec. 7—Reynolds vs. Beier Loafers, 7:15.

Ghouls vs. Ashton, 8:15. Polo vs. Dixon Battery Shop, 9:15.

Dec. 14—Beier Loafers vs. Ghouls 7:15. Dixon Battery Shop vs. Ashton, 8:15.

Polo vs. Reynolds, 9:15. Dec. 21—Ashton vs. Reynolds, 7:15.

Polo vs. Beier Loafers, 8:15. Ghouls vs. Dixon Battery Shop, 9:15.

Dec. 28—Dixon Battery Shop vs. Reynolds, 7:15. Polo vs. Ghouls, 8:15. Ashton vs. Beier Loafers, 9:15.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Benny Friedman's passes helped the New York Giants professional football team down the Brooklyn Dodgers 19-6 before a crowd of 25,000 in New York.

Five Years Ago Today—The annual race meeting at Hialeah Park, Miami, Fla., was declared off. The reason given was that the state legislative body had declared pari-mutual betting illegal.

Ten Years Ago Today—Louis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavy-weight, wired Tex Rickard that he would fight either Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavy, or Bill Brennan, Chicago veteran. Dr. Clarence (Pat) Spears was signed to coach West Virginia's football squad for another year.

Chaco Canyon is situated in the northwestern part of New Mexico. It covers 20,269 acres of prehistoric ruins, sagebrush, cedar trees, brilliant hued cliffs and gay-colored sands.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN BASEBALL IS NOT DECREASING

Few Deals Expected at Minors' Meeting At Columbus

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Baseball's army of the unemployed is not decreasing any in size at the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Leagues in session here.

Usually the national convention is the ideal spot for the non-workers to catch on or magnates to strengthen their clubs. But not this year.

Two of the six days have already elapsed and the sole player deal is the signing of two young semi-professionals by the Hazleton Club in the New York-Penn loop.

"And there won't be many deals this year," is heard on all sides. What with many clubs closing shop and others decreasing the size of their rosters the outlook is none too bright for the non-workers. Several magnates say they have some irons in the fire for trades, but none are looking for new talent.

Right now the owners are too busy trying to iron out the dissension that is cropping up over the recommendation to fix a salary limit which was made several weeks ago by the Association's committee of five, which was appointed to diagnose minor league ills and prescribe for them.

The American Association favors a $6,500 a month salary limit; the International League believes that figure too low and the Pacific Coast group says "no salary limit at all."

These three class AA circuits will get together again today in an effort to compromise their differences.

Stagg Entirely Out At Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—With the definite assurance that Amos Alonzo Stagg, for 41 years Director of Athletics and football coach at the University of Chicago, would not be reappointed, reports persisted today that George Veenker, football and basketball coach at Iowa State College, has the inside track as the successor to Stagg.

Thomas Metcalf, new Director of Athletics at Chicago, however, said he has made no definite selection. Metcalf at present is Director of Athletics at Iowa State, having resigned to succeed Stagg.

Stagg will sever all connections with Chicago when his enforced retirement becomes effective next June. He has refused to accept an honorary post created for him as chairman of the University's Committee on intercollegiate athletics. Stagg said he could not accept a position without work and that he would be a "nuisance" in this new position.

Buckeyes Open Away From Home
Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—For the first time in 20 years Ohio State will open its basketball schedule away from home, meeting Toledo at Toledo tonight. Indiana also will open, tackling the Little Giants of Wabash at Bloomington.

Northwestern made its first appearance in competition last night and turned in an unexpectedly impressive performance in walloping Bradley Tech, 44 to 19. Michigan, however, took a beating in its inaugural, losing to the strong Western (Mich.) State Teachers, 37 to 31.

Temple Expecting Great Grid Team

Philadelphia, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Temple University, youthful rising figure in the field of intercollegiate football, is to come under the guidance of the veteran coach whose name has been synonymous with the development of gridiron strategy for nearly four decades—Glenn S. (Pop) Warner.

Chartered as a university in 1907, the year Warner began his second term of coaching at the Carlisle (Pa.) Indian School, Temple played its first intercollegiate football in 1925, the year after Warner went to Stanford, the University he is leaving to assume his position here.

In eight years Temple, under the leadership of Henry J. (Heinie) Miller, former All-America end at the University of Pennsylvania, has made a notable record with 50 victories, 15 defeats and eight ties, and alumni officials, in signing up Warner, have expressed the belief the school is on the threshold of a place among the top flight of gridiron elevens.

The symbol of medicine, a staff with serpent entwined, had its origin long before the time of Christ.

White Sox Coaches Made Free Agents

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox, may have to call on active players to man the coaching lines and instruct the youngsters this season.

Bill Cunningham and Johnny Butler, who served as coaches last season, have been made free agents and reports say no full time men will be signed in their places.

Manager Charlie Grimm expects that both (Red) Corriden and Charlie O'Leary, who coached the National League champion Cubs last year, will be retained.

Again Greenleaf Against The Rest
New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Once more it's Ralph Greenleaf against the field in the national picket billiard championship.

The dapper New Yorker, opening defense of the title he has won ten times since 1919, swamped James Mills of San Jose, Calif., 125 to 32, at the Capitol Billiard Academy last night and demonstrated he will take a lot of beating before the 18-day tournament is completed.

Santa's Coming—Look at the Industry

Right now there just never seems to be a moment of rest in the life of a growing lad—at least the photographers could not find one. The three pictures are the prize winners in the Master-Snap Photo Contest of the Master Photo Finishers. Mrs. F. P. Crawford of Columbus, O., caught the young man washing his teeth without any coaxing (upper left) and won first prize in the contest. A born mechanic (upper right) was at work on his vehicle when Ralph H. Brown of St. Paul photographed him for second prize, while the exploring genius—maybe it's cookies—came to the fore while the dog looked on expectantly so Mrs. Ramon E. Keyser of San Francisco could win the third prize.

"COMING HOME ON FLAT TIRE" SERMON THEME

Evangelist At The Bethel Church Announces Night Subject

We must get down and pray if we are going to have a great revival in this city, Mr. James declared. Don't think that because God has blessed our campaigns elsewhere that I can come here, and the chorus sing and I preach and great crowds come and have a revival. That doesn't mean a real revival. It must be prayed down. We must all get down on our knees and pray, we must all clean up our hearts and do God's will and then He will bless us and not until then. The various churches have given splendid cooperation, but we need more prayer. God is waiting anxiously to pour out His blessings upon us but he won't do it until we pray.

God has never once failed to send a great revival when the people prayed.

Tonight Rev. James speaks from the subject "Coming Home on a flat tire." You must come early if you want a good seat. The song service will begin as soon as the church is full.

"Jamesisms"
Don't be proud of yourself. Remember you can buy every element and compound found in your body at a drug store for 98 cents.

Why not ask God to do something big? I'm asking Him to save thousands of souls here in this campaign.

One of the troubles of humanity is a great big man and a little God.

If you are proudish and can't stand straight talk don't come to hear me. I'm never vulgar but I talk plain.

I could do a lot of things to get a crowd but that wouldn't be a revival.

If I can get the people of Dixon to pray the prayer of David, we will be the recipients of the greatest revival in Dixon.

When you write me letters sign your name, also they go into the waste paper basket without being read.

I haven't much hope for death bed repentance. If you can't get right with God now, how will you do it then?

If you live like the Devil in your home don't expect your children to grow up angels.

Don't be angry with me, I'm here

Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this?

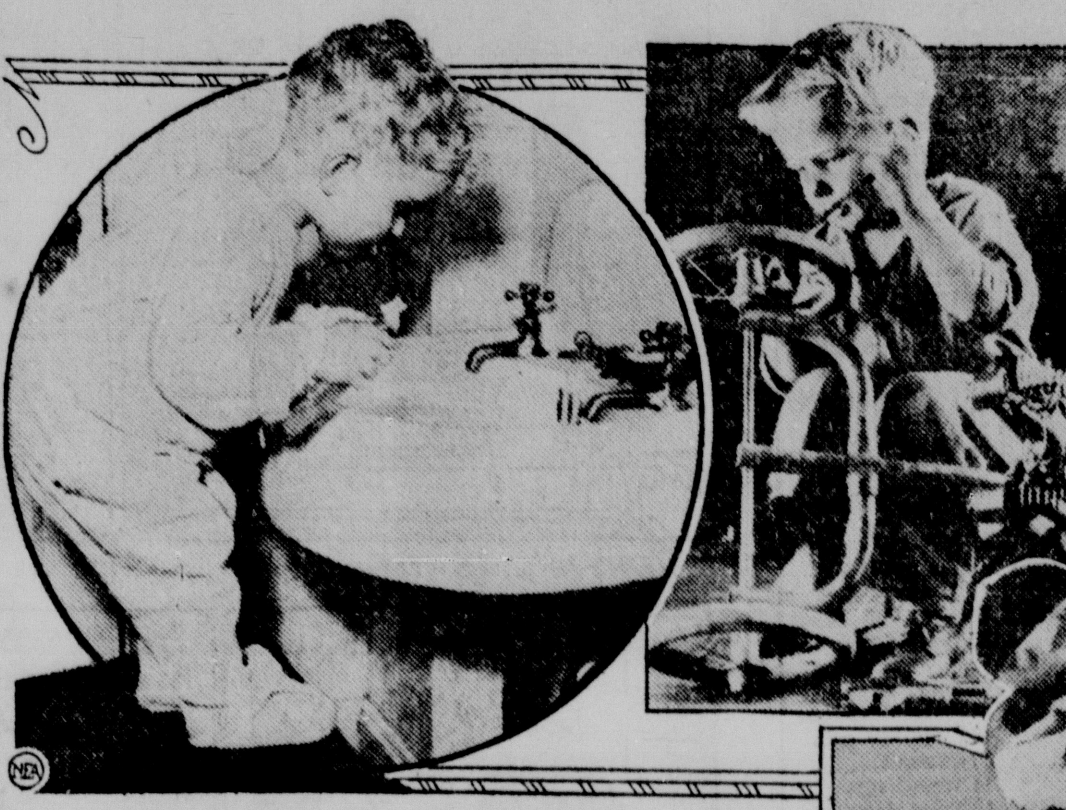

A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome.

Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than taking patent medicines—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

MINISTERS OF COUNTY FORMED AN ASSOCIATION

Organization Is Perfect—At Meeting In Dixon Monday

Seventeen ministers of Lee County met in the parlors of the St. Luke's church Monday at 10:00 A. M. This was the regular meeting of the Dixon Ministerial Association, but all ministers of the county had been invited as previously arranged, looking forward to a county organization. After to the Dixon Association disposed of their business it was decided that Rev. L. W. Walter and Rev. W. W. Marshall, the presiding officers of the Dixon Association, should act as temporary officers until county organization should be effected. A constitution was presented and adopted after which the following organization was effected as follows:

President—J. Frank Young.
Secretary—Wm. E. Thompson.
Treasurer—W. W. Marshall.
1st Vice Pres.—E. M. Edwards.
2nd Vice Pres.—George A. Walters.

3rd Vice Pres.—H. Psicholz.
Rev. R. E. Furnish of La Salle county, a representative of the Illinois Council of Churches spoke to the association.

He explained the work and purpose of the Council. It was decided that the Lee County ministers would cooperate with the council in completing a survey of the state. The survey is endeavoring to secure information regarding the type of work in each community. They desire to strengthen and unify the work that is already being done and assist in promoting Christian activities in non-church communities. Section Two reads as follows:

"This organization shall have for its purpose inter-denominational fellowship and the strengthening and developing of the spiritual life of its members; it shall endeavor to make more effective the voice of Protestantism in moral issues and problems facing the Christian Church in Lee County. The next meeting of the County Association will be held in the Dixon Brethren church the last Monday in January at 1:30 P. M.

Convicted Killer Given Stay Monday

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A stay of the death sentence pronounced against Charles Winchester, 20 of East St. Louis for the murder of Emil Kirsch, was granted by action of the Supreme Court today in granting a writ of supersedeas, bringing the case here for review.

Jacksonville, Fla. — Judging from remarks made by Sheriff W. B. Cahoon, a boy is not normal until he has swiped fruit. The Sheriff talked to 20 prominent businessmen and they all had the same opinion. In fact, they all confessed to having made raids on orchards when they were kids, as did the sheriff. The sheriff understands the sweetness of forbidden fruit and it is easy for him to pardon orchard raiders.

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

The OKAPI.

A LARGE ANIMAL OF CENTRAL AFRICA, WAS NOT KNOWN TO WHITE MEN UNTIL THE 20TH CENTURY.

IN SOME SPECIES OF OYSTER THE MALES AND FEMALES ARE SEPARATE INDIVIDUALS, WHILE IN OTHER SPECIES EACH OYSTER REPRESENTS BOTH SEXES.

The Okapi inhabits the dense, tropical forests of Central Africa, and it was not until 1900 that Sir Henry H. Johnston discovered the animal in the Belgian Congo and made it known to the world of science. It is related to the giraffe, although some of its markings more nearly resemble those of the zebra. It is still little known and most of the information concerning its habits has come through a study of the animals tracks.

EINSTEINS GET VISAS TO COME TO THE STATES

The Professor's Anger At Questioning Seems Appeased Now

Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Professor Albert Einstein gets his passport visa today to visit the United States and his views on politics probably will not be mentioned on this side.
The distinguished scientist applied for the visa in Berlin yesterday, and because an American women's organization had protested that he was connected with a Communist group, he was questioned on his political beliefs. The famous scientist called the questions "silly" and stormed out of the Consulate's office in a rage.
But apparently the Consulate was satisfied as he notified the State Department here last night that the Professor was "admissible" and that the visa would be issued today.

Both the scientist and his wife were aroused by the questioning. Frau Einstein saying that she must know by 11 A. M., or they would tell American savants who had invited her husband to the United States that the trip was off.

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

By The Associated Press
ILLINOIS

Chicago — Beloit, Wis., officials believe in locking the barn door before the horse is stolen. Acting on this theory they have requested a police guard when their City Manager arrives in Chicago with $100,000 in bonds for deposit here. Even the hour of his arrival is a secret.

Chicago — Dr. H. M. Streicher, Assistant Professor of Medicine in the University of Illinois Medical School, said he has found that alcohol if taken in moderation is beneficial. A seven to 10 per cent solution, he said, is an aid to digestion to persons suffering from gastric disorders.

Elkhart, Ill.—Two of three high school students on their way home from school were killed when an Alton freight train hit their auto at the city's main crossing. The dead are Leland Todd, 17, and Miss Emma Awe, 17. Todd's sister, Miss Helen Todd, 16, was critically injured.

Chicago — Chester G. Moore, Joliet, was reelected President of the Illinois Bus Association, meeting here to plan a campaign against alleged discriminatory legislation. Other officers were filled as follows: Aaron Zimmerman, Olney, vice president, and E. R. Parkhill, Champaign; Lawrence T. Allen, Danville; Hayes Kennedy, Chicago; Leo G. Huntoon, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and A. W. Beaurline, Chicago, directors.

Chicago—Louis Heintz of suburban Niles Center, was shot by his dog while hunting rabbits, he explained as he applied for treatment at an Evanston hospital. He laid his gun on the ground and the dog stepped on the trigger, discharging it, he said.

Chicago—With one leg severed and the other crushed Charles Van Cura, 27, railroad switchman, died from results of being pinned beneath an overturned railroad tender. While rescue squads worked frantically for 40 minutes to free him he joked and carried on a conversation with them.

GOOD OLD BADGE
Corbin, Ky. — Charley Howard can thank his lucky badge that he is living today. Charlie and another police officer went to arrest Sam Philpot in South Corbin. Sam resisted and fired a pistol at Howard. The bullet struck Howard's badge, knocking him down, but otherwise doing no damage.

Queer Weather
On still, cold nights when the air is exceptionally calm temperatures may vary by as much as ten degrees within short distances. In extreme cases the distance may be as little as 300 feet, though it is usually half a mile or more. A killing frost may damage vegetation on the ground or on low land when a thermometer stationed high above it shows a temperature well above freezing. United States weather bureau experts have found that the ideal place to record temperature is five to six feet above the ground.

Excelsior Production
It is estimated that one cord of excelsior wood will yield an average of 2,000 pounds of excelsior. However, this often varies from 1,650 to 2,300 pounds per cord. The various species of aspen and cottonwood, together with basswood, constitute considerably more than half of all the excelsior produced in this country. Other species used in excelsior manufacture in this country are the various southern pines, willow, red gum, white pine, spruce and small quantities of a considerable number of other woods.

Week-end MURDER

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH
© 1932 BY HERA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second floor balcony of the Averill's Long Island home. Linda reaches him just in time for he dies in her arms. She gasps a few words which convince her he was murdered. Linda rushes upstairs. Someone tries to strangle her and she faints.

There are four guests in the house—all suspects of the crime. They are: MR. STANTLAND, business associate of Tom Averill; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian; MARVIN PRATT, former referee in boxing; and LIAN SHAUGHNESSY, Irish writer. When Linda tells her husband what happened she persuades him they must keep these four men in the house until they can decide which one is guilty. There is no evidence as yet for arrest. Tom and Linda are aided in their plan when DR. BOYLE, official medical examiner, sends word that every one must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Linda talks to Pratt who is noticeably suffering from strain. He refuses to say why he quarreled with Cousin Amos the night before the older man's death. Later she hears Shaughnessy talking to ROSIE, the maid, about a shirt Rosie had promised to launder for him. She seems most anxious about this shirt.

Sitting on the lawn talking to Dr. Boyle is startled to see Pratt's face suddenly appear, then disappear at the balcony window.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

TEA was over. Tom and Stantland had come out promptly. Rosie had been sent to summon Marvin, still upstairs after Linda's unexpected glimpse of him, and Shaughnessy had appeared in bland good humor before she had time to dispatch anyone to notify him. The little ceremony, simple as it was, had staidened Linda's nerves and enabled her, while listening to the talk of others, to formulate her own thoughts. Now, on the plea of a rest before dinner, she was in her own room and Tom had soon followed her upstairs for their first interview.

Linda permitted herself to relax in his arms for a moment, then resolutely assumed her briskest, most business-like manner.

"I've found out a good deal, Tom, but it won't take long to tell. First, have you heard from Dr. Boyle?"

"No. I telephoned the station after you came up and Tim said they'd had no word. He evidently doesn't think Boyle intends to hurry himself. In fact, I gather he believes just the opposite. I told him we'd have dinner at seven and that we would remain in the house until he did let us know. My guess is Boyle will wander in some time this evening. I can't say I anticipate the experience."

"The later he comes the better I'll be pleased. During dinner I'm going to ask the men to stay all night. Now shall I talk or will you?"

"Shoot! I didn't get anything from Stantland. Too strictly business. You had a better chance for general talk than I."

"I talked to Marvin and Mr. DeVos. I overheard Mr. Shaughnessy talking to Rosie and I think that's the most important of all."

"Take 'em in turn."

"First, Marvin. Impressions rather than actual discoveries. He didn't want to talk to me. I made him. He absolutely refused to talk about the—the trouble. I tried several leads, but couldn't start him. Then all of a sudden he opened up on a line I'd never have thought of taking. She told of Marvin's pointed inquiry about the extent of intimacy between the old man and herself and the emotion which the apparently trivial facts elicited.

"Now my guess as to what started it is that Cousin Amos called him down—you remember hearing that censorious, reproving tone—for paying too much attention to me."

"You are a dear! Where was I? Oh, he said first that he wished he'd known Cousin Amos wasn't so close to me as he pretended he was—or words to that effect. Then he began hinting that perhaps Cousin Amos and I talked together—you know, father-and-daughter stuff—and so I caged him on all I could. He did try so hard not to talk about it! Finally he burst out with a point-blank question. Asked me if we had talked—if I'd gone to his room or if he had come here. Later he said that Cousin Amos, calling down was all about me. At least he said that 'covered it.' But earlier, I got the idea that there was something he didn't want us to talk about together."

"Hm! And you didn't get any lead on what it was?"

"Not the slightest. He even asked—or sort of hinted to find out—if I'd seen Cousin Amos again last night after we came in."

Where Roosevelt and Hoover Made History

THE RED ROOM
WHERE CONFERENCE WAS HELD.

SOUTH DOOR WHERE ROOSEVELT ENTERED.

Here are the principals and the setting of the historic conference between President Hoover and his elected successor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in which the problems of Europe's war debt payments to the United States were discussed. Cheered as he rode up Pennsylvania avenue, Governor Roosevelt, accompanied by his economic adviser, Professor Raymond Moley of Columbia University, entered the White House by the south door, shown in the lower photo. The south grounds were closed even to newspapermen and photographers. Carried to the first floor on the small family elevator, Roosevelt found President Hoover waiting at the door of the Red Room, shown above. They smiled, shook hands, then settled in their chairs with Moley and Treasury Secretary Ogden Mills for a conference without precedent in American history. Hoover and Hills are shown at the left, Roosevelt and Moley at the right.

Cornstalk Feed

Costly For Herds

Sibley, Iowa.—(AP)—Cornstalks are not so cheap a food for milk cows as some farmers think they are.

To support this contention, Mitchell Wickel, tester for the Osceola cow testing association, cites the experience of one farmer whose herd declined six pounds of milk each daily during the month the cows were allowed to run in a corn field.

Wickel says the cows ate too much corn and went off feed, causing a loss of $20 in production during the month.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat decreased 4,638,000; corn decreased 241,000; oats decreased 545,000; rye decreased 63,000; barley increased 280,000.

Catarrah Deafness

May Be Overcome

If you have catarrah, catarrah deafness or head noises caused by catarrah, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrah of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost.

Secure from Rowland's Pharmacy or your druggist 1 oz. Par-mint (Double Strength). Take this home and add 4 pint hot water and a little sugar. One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly relieve distressing catarrah head noises, clogged nostrils, difficult breathing and drooping mucus, and improve hearing. All victims of catarrah deafness or head noises should give Par-mint a trial.—Adv.

Under the Household Loan Plan, you can borrow $300 or less to help tide over family financial emergencies, with as long as 20 months to repay. The cost is as low as the economies of a Household's large volume and efficient management can make possible.

Under the Household Plan the only signatures required are those of husband and wife. You do not have to have friends or relatives endorse your note. No investigations are made among friends, tradespeople, or employers—the loan is strictly between you and the Household. Any married couple permanently located and keeping house whose normal income is sufficient to meet living expenses plus small payments on a loan is eligible to borrow under this plan. If you desire further information on the Household Loan plan just address the Household Finance Corporation, Tarbox Building, Freeport, Ill.

W.F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

At this time of year you probably are thinking mostly about marketing. Quite naturally you want to get every cent you can for the poultry you have worked so hard to raise.

People want to know when is the best time to sell their poultry, but that is a hard thing to say. It depends a lot on the condition of the birds—when they are mature, or "ripe," as I always like to think of it. But right now there are two things I can say without hesitation.

Be sure to sell your birds before they get stinky. Any poultry you want to sell for the holiday market should be sold NOW because, as I have explained before, it takes two to three weeks to get poultry to market after you sell it.

Turkey Prospects
Everybody seems interested in turkeys this year. I said some time ago that, as a general thing, turkeys in our sections are not "ripe" until December. If the Thanksgiving market is short, all is well. But, unfortunately, that was not the case this year.

However, in spite of this, I look for a reasonably good market on turkeys for the next two months. Of course, the price will be low compared to what it has been in former years, but at the same time, when you compare it with the prices you are getting for competitive foods (principally meats), there should be considerable satisfaction.

I feel that the turkey market is in good condition for this reason: The low price of turkeys at Thanksgiving, which was a disappointment to the producer and the dealer, nevertheless drew the attention of the public. And now everywhere you go—hotels, dining cars, restaurants, cafeterias, even lunch counters—everybody is eating turkey.

So, while shipments for Christmas will very likely be heavy, I think the consumers will take care of them. In selling turkeys you have to keep in mind, of course, that they are only six weeks when young toms are prime and that after the middle of January they shrink in weight.

A Weather Market
Everybody is watching the egg market and it is likely to keep moving up and down a few cents for a while before it breaks, because the market right now depends mostly on the weather. If the thermometer goes up—eggs go down, and if the thermometer goes down, eggs go up.

Sincerely yours,
W.F. Priebe

MUST KEEP COCKERELS' COMBS FROM FREEZING

By Prof. A. G. Phillips

Male birds do not mate and are unsatisfactory as breeders following a cold spell which freezes their combs. Some males, such as Leghorns, have extremely large combs and it is difficult to so house them that they will not be nipped when the temperature drops suddenly or it becomes very cold.

In large flocks or where the houses are kept at a temperature near or above freezing there is no danger of this trouble, but it is difficult to know well in advance what the weather conditions will be.

The comb of a bird is very sensitive and gorged with blood. It is easy to freeze. Freezing causes a swelling and fever and finally a sloughing off of the frozen parts. The birds suffer and are in great pain. It seems like cruelty to permit this condition to arise.

The English poultrymen learned to trim or "dub" their male birds to prevent torn combs in the fighting pit and has passed on to us this art which can be used to prevent suffering and loss of breeding power in severe cold weather.

"Dubbing" can be done by cutting off the comb from front to rear, close to the skull, with a sharp knife or razor. The movement may be done quickly with one stroke without disturbing the bird. Bleeding is rather free, but a soft feather plucked from the fluff of the bird can be placed on the injured part and the flow of blood quickly checked. The wattles are trimmed off following the operation to the comb.

Fowls do not become infected easily through wounds and there is little or no chance of any trouble from that source. The treated cockerels can be segregated for a couple of days while healing goes on and within a week are ready for the breeding pen.

Birds so treated are not attractive in appearance and have no sale value as breeders. People do not like to look at them, but they are certainly better appearing than males with sore heads and bad physical condition resulting from freezing. The dubbing operation is not complicated for the poultryman nor is it noticeably painful to the male bird. It is practical and should be carried out before cold weather sets in or the birds put into the breeding pens. It may save some valuable males and insure an increased number of chicks should this winter be very cold and uncomfortable for poultry.
